Men Must Do Something To Be Saved

In our Lord's introductory address, usually styled "the Sermon on the Mount," he laid down the ground on which he discriminated between wise and foolish men. "Those," he says, "who hear these sayings of mine and do them," I will liken to a wise man. "Those who hear these sayings of mine," says he, "and do them not, I will liken to foolish men." The wise he compares to a man who dug deep and founded his house on a rock. The rains descended, the winds blew, and the floods came and beat on that house, and it fell not, for it was founded on a rock. The foolish he compares to a man who built his house on the sand. The rains descended, the winds blew, and the floods came and beat on that house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it. The difference between the wise and foolish was not that one class heard while the other did not, nor that one class believed while the other did not, but that one class did what was required in the teaching of Jesus, while the other did not. The whole matter turned on doing and not doing what the Lord commanded. The matter of being accounted wise or foolish did not turn on the orthodoxy of their views, on Trinitarianism or Unitarianism, Calvinism or Armenianism, but on doing the will of God. The matter does not turn on some abstruse question of theology, metaphysical distinction, or speculation of learned men, nor does it turn on the understanding of learned, difficult, and mysterious terms, requiring great depth of profound learning, but on doing or not doing the commandments of God.

Every man ought to be most devoutly thankful that the question of our being put down with the wise or foolish does not turn on something beyond our control, but on something over which we have control. It does not turn on understanding something that we cannot comprehend, or even something difficult to comprehend, nor on receiving some influence that we cannot obtain, nor on our Savior or our heavenly Father doing something that he will not do, nor yet on our doing something that we cannot do, but on our doing commandments that are not grievous, but easy—something that we can do, and perfectly in the bounds of reason. The question does not turn on what we think, how we feel, what we have experienced, our dreams, the sights we have seen, or the strange sounds we have heard, but on doing the will of God. Those who do his commandments shall enter by the gates into the city and have a right to the tree of life.

- Susie O'Neal's mother, Mary Calvert, is having health problems.
- Our friends and family: Dan & Edna Jones; Billie English (cancer); Chris Anderson (heart); Matt Green's grandmother (Alzheimer's); Shirley Hood's brother Charles Bell and g-nephew Carter; Bruce Rothell's friend, Jason Brown (cancer); Sally Henderson (Nola's sister); Bill Hailey (Jennifer McCafferty's father); Eula Shope (Cancer); Marlene Wadkins (Wes' grandmother/stroke); Suzanne Stamps (sis of Marcia Hill); many others.
- Service men and women: Brian and Amber Hunt; Cory Stead; Ronnie Wilson; Jason Caldwell; Cameron Hill; Shasta Hammons; Mike Fitzpatrick; Adam & Amanda White

HONORING OUR GRADUATES

Every year we try and honor our graduates for the hard work they have done. This year we will be doing that on Sunday, May 20th after evening services, please bring sandwiches and desserts. (Group Williams will be responsible for setting up and cleaning up.) Also, it is a tradition that we bring cards for the graduates -- there will be a table to put their cards on. Our two high school graduates this year are Dillon Myrick and Jacob Littlebear.
