NEWS & NOTES FROM BEN

For years, our children's classes have been our most successful ministry, engaging a huge number of students and volunteers each week. I'm so grateful to everyone who offers their time to make that work.

To give you an idea of the scale of the program, if all of our teachers agree to teach two quarters per year, it still takes a minimum of 38 adult volunteers to fill our early elementary classes each year (Nursery-2nd grade). That number doesn't include the teachers for our older kids, teens, young families, and auditorium classes. That means that roughly 20% of our Sunday morning attendees take part in teaching or assisting in our children's program at some point in the year. Wow!

This program has expanded in at least three major ways in the last few years. First, the additional children we are blessed to have require a constant game of "musical chairs" to find the right classroom assignments for our varying age groups. Second, the success of our Sunday night program has made it difficult to sustain the evening classes, as we end up using many of the same volunteers to teach Sunday nights as we do on Sunday morning and Wednesday. Bobby and Shirley Hill operated the Sunday evening children's class for so long, we had almost forgotten how hard it would be to replace them! Third, the need for attended nurseries on Sunday morning and evening has further strained our pool of volunteers. Let me just say again how grateful we are to all of you who have helped keep this all going so far!

Today, Debbie and I would like to meet with all of our young children's teachers, assistants, and nursery attendants after worship. We will gather down at the front of the auditorium after the closing prayer, and I'll try to keep it brief. We have two major items to tell you about. First, we are revamping the teacher rotation in a way that we hope will create greater consistency in your assignments and not overburden anyone. The goal is to have our teachers teach no more than two quarters a year in a class they enjoy teaching. Second, we want to make a request for the Sunday AM Nursery rotation that we think will help everyone. The goal here is to create a stable rotation where volunteers only have nursery duty once per quarter (four times per year).

I look forward to talking with you and hearing your feedback.

I love every one of you!
Benjamin J. Williams
